What is this product?

Type: It is a UCITS fund established in Luxembourg.

Term: The Fund has an indefinite term. With regard to the possibility of redemptions and the frequency of redemptions, please refer to the section "How long should I hold it and can I take my money out early".

Objectives: The Fund aims to generate medium-term growth by collecting risk premiums on the volatility market while tolerating short-term fluctuations in value. The Fund is actively managed without investments being limited to a specific benchmark universe. All income remains in the Fund and increases the value of the units. In order to achieve its investment objective, the fund relies on a combination of volatility strategies, most of which are implemented using derivatives, and a base portfolio. The volatility strategies make use of structural or temporary inefficiencies in the derivatives markets. These inefficiencies include the fact that the volatility expected in derivatives in the future is often higher than the volatility realised over time. Potential price and currency risks can be hedged through futures contracts. The Fund's base portfolio is aimed at generating value contributions in the amount of the short-term bond market. Depending on market phases and identified opportunities for investment strategies, between 0% and 100% can be invested in the base portfolio. The fund primarily uses derivatives to implement its investment strategy. The following are used in particular: Swaps, options, forwards and futures, on individual securities, baskets of individual securities, indices and derived variables such as interest rates, volatility or variance. Derivatives can be used both for investment and hedging purposes. Portfolio Management may also use equities, certificates, time and demand deposits, currency transactions, units of other UCIs and UCITS, and bonds issued by industrial enterprises, sovereigns and other debtors as investment instruments. Bonds have a minimum rating of BBB- according to Standard & Poor's and Fitch or Baa3 according to Moody's. If the currency of a unit class differs from the Fund's currency, the Fund employs foreign exchange derivatives to compensate the exchange rate risk between unit class currency and fund currency. Within the framework of the investment policy, the Portfolio Management may use other permitted investment instruments. The fund's currency is EUR. The Fund's custodian bank is Brown Brothers Harriman (Luxembourg) S.C.A.. The prospectus and the current annual and semi-annual reports, the current share price and other information on the Fund can be found free of charge at www.assenagon.com/en/funds/Assenagon-Alpha-Premium_P2.

Intended retail investor: The Fund is primarily aimed at all types of investors with average knowledge and experience in the Fund's underlying asset classes, who pursue the goal of wealth formation.
